As part of his municipal practice, Chuck serves as the attorney for an upstate New York municipality addressing the full-range of general municipal issues. He regularly counsels municipal clients on leasing, ethics, environmental matters, zoning, assessment, eminent domain, and procurement. His litigation experience includes tax assessment matters, land use issues, environmental enforcement, and other issues before administrative and judicial forums. He has drafted laws for municipalities on a variety of subjects.

THURSDAY
MARCH 22, 2017

This course will review legal mechanisms for the enforcement of zoning and building codes and strategies for effective enforcement. It will cover the investigation of violations, property inspections and search warrants, administrative enforcement options, bringing a zoning enforcement case in the local justice court, and seeking an injunction in Supreme Court for more serious violations.
