

NYSERDA ENERGY CODE TRAINING

NYSERDA OFFERS FREE ENERGY CODE PLAN REVIEW PROGRAM

NYS is committed to ensuring that at least 90% of residential and commercial buildings comply with the Energy Conservation Construction Code of New York State (ECCCNYS—2010) by 2017. This commitment includes NYSERDA's Energy Code Training & Support Initiative, which offers plan review assistance, training and other opportunities to support the transition to a more energy efficient built environment. To meet this 90% benchmark and to help facilitate compliance code, NYSERDA and its partners are offering free residential and commercial plan review advisory services to a variety of audiences through June 2012.

For support to the code enforcement community, NYSERDA has contracted with Newport Ventures and its partner, T.Y. Lin International. This program is designed to increase energy code compliance and to share advanced techniques for verification and enforcement.

To submit a project for free plan review services through this unique program, please register online:

www.nyserdacodetraining.com

For further information, contact:

Scott Copp, Project Manager

T.Y. LIN INTERNATIONAL

Rochester Office

255 East Avenue

Rochester, NY 14604

(585) 512-2000 • scott.copp@tylin.com

or planreview@tylin.com

— OR —

Margo Thompson, Project Manager

Newport Ventures

(518) 377-9410 • mthompson@newportpartnersllc.com

"This program couldn't be easier"

- Energy analysis is performed by experts familiar with the ECCCNYS—2010.
- Register and submit projects for review online.
- Participation is simple and at no cost to you.
- Results, including options for compliance, will be delivered in an easy-to-understand format.
- Free plan review templates and field inspection checklists provided for future projects.
- Results can be shared with builders or design professionals in a team approach if desired.